WE'RE BACK!

Welcome back to school! Last year's P6 have graduated and we have some new P1 students! It is a brand new experience for them so please remember to help them. Especially if you see them around the campus during recess! How do you feel to be back at school? What will you achieve this year?

NEW TEACHERS!

This school year, there are many new teachers. They include my Chinese teacher Ms. Wong, my music teacher, Ms. Tam and my class teacher Ms. Ho! They are experienced teachers who manage their classes well! We look forward to the opportunity of getting to know them well! We hope they enjoy life in the big family of LUAAPS!

A CHANGING SCHOOL

by Anson Fu

The school changed a lot during the summer holidays. The biggest change is probably the lobby. Instead of a hard floor, some carpets have been added. It is also bigger and brighter than before! The sports room has also changed locations. It has big blue doors and is a lot more spacious. This means we can put even more sports equipment there!

MID AUTUMN FESTIVAL

by Solomon Lau

During Mid Autumn Festival, everyone was playing with lanterns and eating moon cakes. Some people went out with their family and friends. At school, we solved riddles provided by teachers in the school hall. We got presents for solving the riddles. It was a lot of fun! Even better, the next day was a holiday!

PANDA SHOP RETURNS!

by Kaydence Ko

The Panda Shop returned after nearly two years this month! It is open every Wednesday during first and second recess. Students can buy many things like finger puppets, LEGO, yoyos, pens, rubbers and many more things. The English Ambassadors help to run the Panda Shop and act as shop keepers. Are you happy that the Panda Shop is back?

TEACHER TALK - MISS LEE

by Bubu Chan

Miss Lee is an English teacher at our school. In her free time she goes hiking, hangs out with friends or watches Netflix! Her favourite subject is English, but she also enjoys STEM. Her favourite book series is Daisy Diaries. Her favourite colours are blue, green, yellow and orange. That is a lot of colours! Finally, I asked Miss Lee about her favourite food. She said she loves spicy hot pot! That's too spicy for me!

Joke of the month: Why do Maths books always look so sad?

Answer: A Because they are full of problems!

Today, I am going to tell you about an unforgettable experience last Saturday. Hope you enjoy it! ☺☺

Almost half a year ago, Miss Wong who taught me General Studies last year invited me, James and Anson to join a science competition called City I&T Grant Challenge. This competition was held by ITC, Innovation and Technology Commission. At first, I didn't really want to join it as I reckoned I would have no time to do this project. After others' encouragement, I decided to give it a try!

Because of this competition, I, James and Anson became good friends. James was the group leader of us. He was responsible and diligent. He helped us a lot. Anson was our groupmate. He was empathetic and cheerful. He made the 3D hologram figure.

Finally, we could enter the semi-final on last Saturday. We worked hard and spent many times on practising in the ZOOM meeting room. We improved and improved our design and Miss Wong gave us some suggestions too.

Last Friday, I had an online chat with my best friend Jamie. It was a happy thing but I did something I should not do it...

In the middle of time, I pulled over the water on my mobile phone carelessly. I was afraid that the mobile phone became damaged.

After a period of time, I could not turn on my mobile phone. I was anxious. I scared my mom and dad would punish me. I scared it was so expensive to buy a new one. I felt the ants in my pants, my hands were sweaty and my lips were trembling. I did not know what I could do.

Finally, my mom punished me severely, I used a ferocious lion and my dad bought me a new mobile phone. I learnt a lesson. I should do anything carefully. At this time, I am very very guilty and regretted. I hope mom and dad can forgive me, sorry.

(Kelly's pink bracelet) was missing!

Last Sunday afternoon, Kelly and her best friend, Kate played in near their home. When they arrived <sup>at</sup> the playground, they put Kelly's bracelet on the bench.

After an hour, Kelly and Kate felt tired and hungry, they sat on and ate some snacks. After that time, Kelly could not find her. "It's not here," she said. "I think I lost it." "Don't worry, I'll help you find it," Kate said. "Let's find it together!" They searched the playground but they could not find it.

Suddenly, Kate saw a cat took the missing bracelet because she was playing with swings. In the end, Kelly and Kate found the thief and took back the bracelet from the cat and made friends with it. They were happy. The cat was happy too. <sup>became</sup>

Snow Moin Cake making

17-9-21

Last Sunday I went snow moon cake making with my friend Amelia. She is two years younger than me, while I am eleven. The bakery we went to was in 11 chicks, pretty near to the mt station and my ballet school. We arrived there eleven minutes before four o'clock, since we were due at that time and it was more than thirty minutes late, then you would not be able to participate in the lesson! It was very clean at the bakery, with a shelf that sold party things in the front and the cooking place at the back. There were three tables and Amelia and I sat ourselves at the first two seats of the second table. The whole process of making the mooncakes was very pleasant. It was of a Sunkist theme, since both of us loved them, they were so cute (to us). First we had to make the outer wrapping by stirring the ingredients together and the putting it into the microwave, either way it would be unideal. Then the traditional filling was prepared, since it was already made ready. After all the doing out of the filling and wrapping was done, we had to wrap up the filling, it is very hard to describe, but what happened was that (I'm not bragging mind). I got all of the ones that I did done and they were OK, but Amelia's either got one side too thin or she completely ruined the shape. Oh and I forgot to mention that we first had to add food coloring to the outer wrapping and if we didn't do that, all of the characters would be plain white! Then came the making of the accessories, which was the very thing that made snow moon so cute. My best one was a fried pork chop and even the eyes and nose were in place. We had to draw the faces with black and red food coloring, which was not too difficult to do.
