PRINCIPAL CHENG

MESSAGE FROM

We would like to present to you a collection of our students' writing this year. Our students have worked on a wide variety of writing genres.

Through reading their writing, we can share their feelings and see the world through their eyes. We believe students will find writing more interesting and meaningful if they can choose their topics they are interested in. If students consider writing as a powerful tool for expressing their thoughts and feelings they will be more willing to write and share. Feedback and encouragement from the readers are vital in enhancing student's writing skills and confidence. We hope that the publication of this anthology can be a platform to nurture our young English writers.

Yours sincerely,
Principal Cheng

Ms Jade Lee – English Panel Head

Witnessing the change and advancement of the English Language department in LUAAPS has been one of my greatest pleasures as a panel head. I am so grateful to have some inspiring, flexible and assertive teachers working as a team at this school who strive for the best in every aspect. Teamwork is the key.

At the beginning of the curriculum reform, we started with small steps by conducting self-evaluation in school-based worksheet. Furthermore, we develop the strategies pedagogically in different learning areas. Students are found to be more confident to monitor their learning progress. They know how to choose the right readers; they are able to comment on their books; they are able to write freely to express their thoughts and feelings; they are able to write stories with intriguing ideas; they become confident and competent to use English to communicate effectively. All the fruits we can find on our students prove that we are on the right track in establishing independent, effective and confident English learners.

Now it's the time to share the accomplishment of our lovely students with you all. They are our pride. Let's rejoice and celebrate their success together.

Mr Adrian Lau – English Panel Head

As a new Panel Head this year, and having been a member of this fledgling English Team for several years, I have had the opportunity to witness first-hand the importance of a strong team with a coherent mindset in order to facilitate optimal student learning.

Throughout the years, we have attempted to build an immersive English learning environment, which offers the students the biggest chance to improve themselves in all aspects of English: reading, writing, speaking and listening. Our aim is to give students a solid foundation whereby they can reach their English potentials. Through activities, games and plenty of hard work, we want the students to be able to show their abilities in English as best as they can. As always, the students at our school are a wonderful bunch. They give us inspiration and brighten up our days with their individuality and innocence. Becoming so close with each other is evidence of a learning environment brimming with joy, comfort and respect. These are all qualities that make us proud to call them our students.

This anthology is a testament to all of their hard work. It gives each and every student in our beloved school a chance to show their English skills using creativity, imagination and confidence. I am so proud to see their progress year upon year and I hope you enjoy reading their work as much as I did.

Finally, we would like to take this opportunity to extend our most sincere gratitude to all of our English team. Our local teachers; Ms Mok, Ms Ho, Ms Hung, Mr T and Ms Zee have all been outstanding. As have our ever popular native English teachers; Mr Turner and Mr D'Aulerio. None of this could have been accomplished without any one of you. You are all amazing teachers and it's an absolute pleasure to work with you!

Peter's Adventure

Peter was playing video games in his room, but it was already 2 a.m. at night! He should have been sleeping! His mum came into his room and said "Peter! Go to sleep!" but Peter ignored her. His mum sighed and left. Suddenly, Peter fainted. When he woke up he saw himself in Cyber City. He yelled, "Ah! Where am I?" Suddenly, a guide robot came up to him and spoke to him, "welcome to Cyber City!" Then the robot took him to explore the city. Peter had seen enough. "Mr. Robot, I want to go home now." Then the robot and Peter went to the Keyboard of Time. The robot told Peter, "Go spell F-U-T-U-R-E "future" on the keyboard then it will spawn a space ship!" So, Peter spelled the word "future" on the keyboard and went on the ship. Finally, Peter left Cyber City. On the way home he saw a robot dying on the floor. The robot said, "Hey kid! Can you help me please?" Peter helped him but it was a trick! The robot grabbed him and put him in a cage. The guide robot saw him and saved him. They ran on to the ship and escaped. Now, Peter will listen to his mum every night!

Friendly Peter

Last night, at ten o'clock, Peter was still playing his Xbox, but he was still very sleepy and tired. When Peter was sleeping, an alien went into his home and took him to Cyber City. He was amazed and felt surprised. There was another person there too, "Why am I here?" asked Peter. "I don't know. I think it was the aliens who brought you here." The boy replied. "What is your name?" Peter asked. "I'm Leo! Are you Mia?" Leo replied. "No! I'm Peter." Yelled Peter. Leo brought Peter to visit Cyber City. Peter tried the food. "The food was tastier than the food in England." Peter said. "But I think the Super Pizza is the tastiest!" Next, they went past Cyber Primary School. They saw a robot on the floor. "Can you help me little boy?" yelled the robot. "Sure, but how can I help you?" Replied Peter. "Bring me to Cyber Hospital and help me to find a robot nurse." So they did. "Thank you! Do you want me to bring you back to Earth?" asked the robot. "No thanks, because I think Cyber City is great and interesting!" So in the end, Peter stayed and lived in Cyber City forever.

Cyber City Adventure

At two o'clock at night, Peter was still playing computer games. He was very tired but he thought that he would win. So two minutes later, he won the game! Suddenly, a rocket from the game flew out and dragged Peter away! Peter thought something was weird. "Why are there unusual shops and cars here?" Peter asked. "That's because you are in the most advanced city in the future – Cyber City! Welcome!" an alien replied. Peter tried some of the food in the restaurant, "Wow. That is delicious!" While he rode on the space motor, he saw a robot on the floor and heard a robotic sound. "Little boy, I need your help." Said a Robot on the floor. "Sure, but how?" Peter asked. "Just push the button on my back." The robot answered. Peter was the kindest student in his class, so he tried to push the button on its back. Oh no! That's evil Robot X! Peter got an electric shock. Finally, Peter died because nobody helped Peter afterwards.

Angry Peter

It was one o'clock in the morning, but Peter was still playing computer games. He was very tired, but when his mum went into his room, he shouted at her, "You are the most annoying mum in the galaxy! Go away!" Suddenly, the screen turned dark and a rocket brought him to a future town. Peter went into a department store and bought a No.A001 motor bike. Peter rode the motor bike and saw a robot on the floor. It gave him a card and cried, "This is the robot doctor's telephone number. Please call him, He'll fix me." Peter called the robot doctor. The doctor arrived and fixed the robot. Afterwards, Peter asked the robot, "How can I go back home?" "Oh, I almost forgot to tell you. You need to use the keyboard and type 'I want to go home', then print it out. Press the 'home' button and you can go home." Explained the robot. So, Peter did all those things and finally he went back home.

Rude Peter

Peter was a very rude boy. When he saw people walk by, he didn't greet them and when people tried to be his friend he just told them to go away and never talk to him ever again. Even his parents thought he was the rudest out of all of his brothers and sisters. Last night, at 1am, Peter was still playing computer games. When his parents saw that Peter was still playing, they were really mad. Peter's mum said, "Why are you still playing computer games? You should be in bed!" Peter shouted back, "Go away! I don't want to go to bed!" Peter's dad said, "We will come into your room again and when we come back I want to see you sleeping." But what Peter didn't know was there was a robot in his room, too! The robot was mad at Peter for being so rude and sent him to Cyber City. When Peter woke up, he saw he was in Cyber City. He asked, "Where am I? How did I get here?" The robot from Peter's room said to him, "You're in Cyber City now. If you want to go back home, you must learn to be kind." After that, Peter saw a robot who was hurt. Peter wanted to help the robot and built something that would help it. Suddenly, it turned out that the robot who needed help was the robot from Peter's room. The robot got up and said to Peter, "Good job! You passed the test to be nice and kind!" Peter thought it was good to be nice and help people. In the end, the robot helped Peter as well and sent him back home.

A Trip to Cyber City

"I am so tired of recording..." Peter the YouTuber was playing Universe Royal on the Nintendo Wii every day, even when it was very late. One day, he got a game over. Suddenly the computer started to glow, the words "game over" were slowly disappearing. Not long after, he woke up in a strange place, "Where... where... where am I?" he asked in a low voice. "Come on. It is the best city in Earthlington." Another robot said. Peter got up and thought to himself, "Wow. This is great! I want to see what the schools here look like." He got on to a Space Mountain Bike and went to Cyber Primary School. There, he saw an injured robot. "Little boy, can you help me?" the robot muttered. "Sure," he said as he took a screwdriver out. But he did not know where the batteries were. So he unscrewed the parts and almost broke it. Luckily, he finally found where the batteries were and replaced them with some new ones. "Thank you!" the robot said as it went away. Peter went home by a portal. He entered a competition for "The YouTuber with the Best Story" and surprisingly he won it. "This is the best day ever!" Peter shouted.

Magic Adventure

Last night, Peter was playing computer games. He was very tired. He felt very sleepy but he still didn't want to sleep because he was addicted to computer games. Suddenly, he saw a light and he was in Cyber City. He felt very happy but also surprised because it was his first time going to Cyber City. After that, Peter went to the ground. He met a robot in the Cyber City school playground. The robot asked Peter to help because he was going to run out of power after playing for a long time. After Peter helped the robot, he said 'thank you' to Peter after recharging. From the event, Peter learnt that he cannot play computer games for too long. He had to sleep earlier.

Hi I'm Peter, a strange thing happened to me last night. When I was playing computer games, it was two o'clock. I went to a future town named Cyber City. I saw many aliens. I shouted to the aliens, "Is there any food here?" "All the food is on Mars", he replied. I saw the tallest robot needed help, so I went to help him. His body had no oil in it, so I put some in. He could move again! The robot said, "Go back to your planet and tell everyone not to make so much rubbish!" I suddenly somehow got back to my room. I will tell everyone about it.

Peter’s Adventure

It was already midnight and Peter was still playing video games. His mum tried to convince him to sleep already, but he wouldn’t. He felt very tired and bumped his head on to the screen of the computer. When he woke up, he was going through a cord. He went through a flash of light and was in Cyber City. “Woah, where am I?” Peter asked. “You are in Cyber City! The year is 3019!” an alien answered. “Can I ride that hover cycle and drive around?” Peter asked. “Sure!” The alien answered. Peter saw people buying food so he bought a bag. It was just a piece of gum, but he tried it anyway. It was delicious! Peter drove his hover cycle around Cyber City, but when he went to the primary school, he saw a robot lying down. “Why are you lying down?” Peter asked. “I don’t have enough fuel to walk. Can you go into the primary school and get some fuel for me?” asked the robot. Peter agreed so he went inside the primary school and saw another robot. “Haha, you got tricked!” that robot said. Peter saw another robot heading towards him, he realised that that was the same robot that needed help. “I thought you needed help.” Peter said. “I never did! It was all a trick!” The robot cried. Peter was captured in the school’s storage room. At last, an alien saved him, “Who are they?” Peter asked. “Oh, they are the bad guys in Cyber City. They kidnap people” the alien answered. “Are they really bad? Maybe they just had a rough past?” Peter replied. “Oh no, they have been hunting us since kindergarten!” the alien cried. “Well then, I have to leave. It was nice to meet you. Goodbye!” Peter said. He went through the cord and was back home.

It's really late." "Aww! But please let me finish this game first!" pleaded Peter. Soon, he was beginning to feel very tired and he was the sleepest boy anyone had ever seen! Suddenly, there was a flash and the computer began to glow! Then, Peter was spinning around and around. After about a minute, he arrived at cyber city. Peter was amazed! There were space motorcycles and bicycles! Peter felt very curious, so he began to look around. Soon, he felt very hungry, so he went to a nearby food stall, and asked the lady at the counter, "Can I have a burger please?" "Of course!" replied the lady cheerfully. "I don't have any money. I'm starving!" Peter explained. He thought the lady would frown, but she didn't. Instead, she said, "Indeed you can! You don't have to pay in this world. I hope you'll enjoy your burger!" Soon, the lady put a small box into Peter's hands and said, "Here's your burger, have a good day!" Peter then opened the box and was really surprised! Inside the box, there were four bubbles shaped like burgers! Peter tasted one and it was really delicious! Next, Peter borrowed a space bicycle and rode around the city. Suddenly, he heard a voice say, "Little boy, come here please."

Peter turned around and saw a robot lying on the ground next to a primary school. The robot was also bleeding. "I accidentally fell down when I was mending the broken roof of the school. The robot said, "I don't have energy." Peter gave some energy to the robot. The robot said thank you to Peter and Peter replied, "welcome".

Finally, there was some light in the sky, Peter flew up and came back to the present.

Peter's Dream

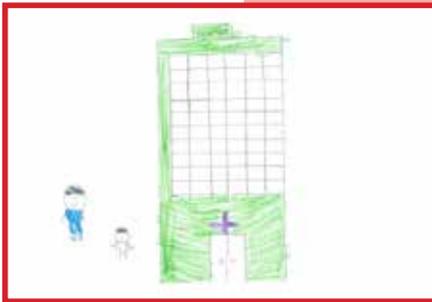

Today Peter was playing games. He became very tired and fell asleep. In the dream, Peter saw a place called Cyber City and there were many robots and people in it. Peter saw flying cars. Peter wanted to fly in the sky too. Peter heard a robot saying, "Little boy I need your help." Peter said, "Sure. How can I help?" The robot replied, "Can you bring me to the hospital?" And Peter said, "Yes." In the end, Peter brought the robot to the hospital. The robot said, "Thank you." Then Peter woke up, Peter was back in his room. Peter felt happy because he helped someone.

Future Town

Today, Peter was so addicted to playing computer games, he went into the computer town. He saw many things. There were flying cars in the sky. "I like the future", Peter shouted. Peter rode a bicycle and he saw a robot. The robot said, "I need to go to the hospital." They went to the hospital as fast as possible. "I will go in with you" said Peter, and they went into the hospital together. The robot was well again. They were very happy.

Angry Peter

One day, Peter was playing his video game. It was one o'clock but Peter was still playing. He felt sleepy and fell unconscious. He found some pictures. The pictures were about Cyber City.

Suddenly, a black thing dragged him into Cyber City. He saw a lot of robots and aliens and said, "Oh, this is the best city!"

Then, he saw a robot. The robot said, "I need your help." But Peter did not know how to help him. A child called Lava came and said, "Oh robot, I'll help you." When the child was helping him, Peter realised the robot cheated him: the robot did not need anything!

Peter felt very angry and said, "You are the worst robot in the world, you cheated me!" Then, Peter went home through a giant webcam.

Peter Helped a Robot

Peter played games in the evening. He played for a few hours. He felt very sleepy, so he slept and started dreaming. He saw flying cars and he saw a food shop and robots. He took a flying car.

He saw a robot was sick. Peter helped the robot. The robot was very happy because it got help. Peter brought the robot back in time. But Peter became worried until the robot finally woke up. Peter was very happy. Finally Peter woke up from the dream and told his dream to his mum.

Nice Peter

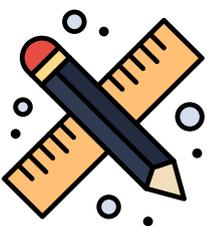

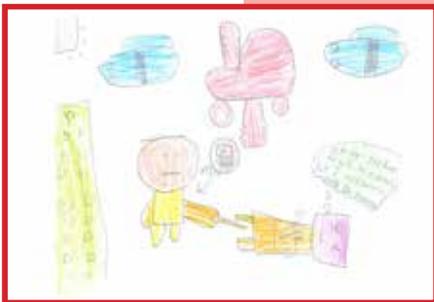

One day, it was late, but Peter was still playing computer games at home. He was very tired. Peter slipped over and went into the computer! Peter went to the future!

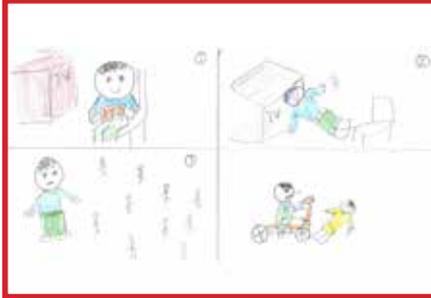

Peter was surprised, but he felt very excited too. In future town, Peter saw flying cars and space ships. He saw some aliens going to Mars!

Peter bought a motorcycle. While he was riding, he saw a broken robot. Peter tried to help the robot. The robot was out of battery, so Peter charged the robot. But after Peter helped it, Peter turned into a robot as well! But because Peter helped the robot, the robot turned him back to human.

They became friends and they lived together till the end.

“Haha die evil robots, die!” It was one a.m., Peter was still playing video games. Suddenly a portal appeared and Peter got sucked in by the big portal.

“Wow, where am I?” Peter asked himself. He realised he was hungry and bought a hot dog.

He also bought a bike and rode it for 10 minutes. He ran into a robot and he saw that the robot was scared. So he helped the robot and then took it back home.

The Laziest Peter

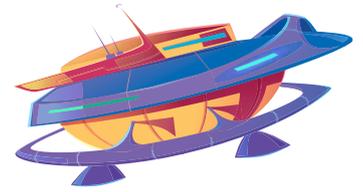

Peter was the laziest child in the family. Peter never did housework because he always played computer games. He always got punished by teachers because he failed in all the subjects.

He realised he got sucked into a virtual dream. He was so excited to see innovative technology. After 5 years, he was bored with the monotonous life in the virtual world but he could not find a way to leave. He saw a robot that fell down and needed help from Peter. Peter promised to help the robot but he did not know how to help.

Peter became very hard-working to find ways to help the robot. Peter rehabilitated it. A day after that, Peter woke up to find that he returned to the real world. “Peter, hurry up! You are going to be late!” said Peter’s mum. Peter now understood that a fruitful life should include both family and school, instead of just playing computer games. Peter worked very hard in every field and he became the role model among his schoolmates.

Bad Peter

Today, Peter was playing the computer, he played for four hours. When his mum called him, he was still playing so his mum didn't care about him for a few hours.

Later, he was still playing and Peter got sucked into the video game, but Peter did not know what was happening. A robot came out and said, "this is your home in the future". Then Peter said to the robot, "I want to eat some food." So the robot took out a cat and other animals out and gave them to Peter. Peter said, "These animals cannot be eaten." Then Peter just walked away and didn't eat anything. A few hours later, he saw a cat and it said, "Hi young boy." Peter replied, "Why can a cat talk?" Then the robot said, "Because this is a robot cat."

Peter wanted to go back home and eat something. The robot told Peter, "You just need to go to the big big monitor. Turn around three times and shake your head five times. Then you can go back home." Peter said, "I will never forget I came here and I will tell this to my friends and family." Then he went back home and ate some food.

Friendly Peter

At night, Peter had been playing video games for three hours. So his mum advised him, "Peter, stop playing video games!" But Peter didn't listen. His mum was very angry.

Suddenly, a magical alien used magic to bring Peter to the future world.

In the future world, there were restaurants, but they were very big. They were the biggest restaurants in the world. Peter saw many robots, aliens and future people. There were a few future houses too. Peter thought it was more beautiful than the past world.

When Peter went near the Cyber Primary School, he saw a robot that was sick. "Little boy, I need your help. Can you help me?" asked the robot. Peter said, "Sure, how can I help?" "You can use future power to help me," answered the robot. Peter thought for a few minutes and replied, "I know I can find future power in the funny house!" So Peter went to the funny house and asked the funny future people to get future power. Luckily, he could take the future power and help the sick robot.

In the end, a magic alien brought Peter back to his house to sleep. His mum went into Peter's bedroom to see him fast asleep. After his mum saw he was asleep, she felt happy.

Brendan Museum had an expensive painting. The painting cost $999,999,999. The painter was called Roy. Since Roy liked cats, he drew an expensive cat painting. When the cleaner, the guard and a tourist all looked at the painting, the lights went out. The painting was stolen. The next morning Detective Ron looked around the museum and found many clues. First, there were two pieces of broken glass nearby the painting. He thought the thief broke the glass. Detective Ron decided to ask some questions. He turned to the cleaner and asked, "Did you see anything?" The cleaner said, "Yes, I was cleaning the floor and I saw the lights go out. I was very frightened!" The guard said, "Oh yes, the lights went out!" Detective Ron turned to the tourist, "Did you see anything strange?" Then the tourist said, "I saw nothing, I know who the thief is. It's the guard!" Detective Ron said, "I also know who it is. It's you! You said you saw nothing but the cleaner and guard both saw something strange. You didn't want me to know that you were the thief!" The tourist tried to run away, but Detective Ron caught him. Detective Ron called the police and they put the tourist in the police car. They sent him to jail. The painting was returned and everyone was happy.

In Ha Ha Ha Museum, there was an expensive painting which cost $100,000,000. But the painting was missing. Detective Ron went to the museum to collect evidence and interview witnesses. First he went to interview the cleaner. The cleaner said, "That night, I was cleaning the painting. Then the lights went out. I was so terrified, so I just stood there." Then Detective Ron interviewed the guard. The guard said, "I was not in the show room, I was in the electric switch room." Next, Detective Ron interviewed the tourist. The tourist said, "I was tired, so I sat on the sofa. Then the lights went out, so I stayed in the show room." Detective Ron used a magnifying glass to find evidence and clues. He found some footprints on the floor and some fingerprints on the picture. On the sofa was some fabric from the tourist's clothes. Detective Ron took fingerprints and footprints from all 3 people.

The fingerprints belonged to the cleaner. The footprints belonged to the guard. Detective Ron shouted, "The thieves are the cleaner and guard! The guard said he was not in this room because he went to switch off the light. The cleaner took the painting and left her fingerprints on it. In the end the police caught the cleaner and guard. They also found the painting. The tourist thanked Detective Ron.

It was a fine night at the art museum. There was a cleaner, she was a teenage girl with golden hair. She was tall, clever and a bit shy. Tom, the security guard was a very short man with grey hair. He guarded the museum strictly. A tourist called Jane was a young woman with a ponytail. She was outgoing and friendly. Detective Ron was there too! He liked to travel around the world and see different things. Suddenly, the lights went out. There were some strange noises followed by a crash. When the lights came back on, a painting had gone! Detective Ron began to investigate the crime scene. He began to question everyone in the room. "I was mopping the floor the whole time!" The cleaner, Mary Ann cried. "I was watching a football game on my phone." The guard said. "I liked the painting, I didn't want it to be stolen!" said Jane, the tourist.

"Hmm, I didn't notice that key by the store room before!" said Detective Ron. Mary Ann was the closest to the plug. "I'm starting to understand everything." said Detective Ron. He began to describe the whole scene, "Mary Ann was mopping the floor and when she was close enough to the plug, she used her feet to kick it out of the wall. Then the lights went out. She used this chance to steal the painting before hiding it and plugging the plug back in. Mary Ann was arrested and put in jail.

On 22nd November 2019, a painting suddenly disappeared. It was very odd, so someone called the police. After 10 minutes, Detective Ron came. He was a young and clever man. He looked brave too. Then, the police sealed off the crime scene to look for clues. They didn't find anything.

Detective Ron was looking for clues with the policemen too. After a few moments, Detective Ron found some footprints and colour on the floor. They were important clues! After that, Detective Ron interviewed the witnesses. Ellie, a clean, shy and beautiful cleaner, said that she was ready for the museum opening at half past 12. The lights went out suddenly at 2pm and the painting was gone. Before the lights came on, she was very scared, so she stayed in the museum until 4pm. Hector, an old orphan, who was tall and thin was also a security guard. He said that he did the same as Ellie. He was looking for the suspect and painting until 4pm. Justin Choi, a suspicious, young, ugly and tricky tourist said that he was eating things and planning his timetable at 12:30pm. He was taking photos of the paintings at 2pm. At 4pm, he packed his bag and walked out of the museum. After Detective Ron heard what they said, he knew who the thief was. He pointed his finger at Justin Choi because at 2pm the lights were out, so he couldn't have taken photos of the painting. Finally, the police caught Justin Choi and took the painting back. After this story, the museum never had anything like this happen again.

At night, in the Papa Museum, there were a cleaner, a security guard and a tourist. There was a famous painting called Cat, because it had a cat on the painting. The painting was so special, it was worth $1,000,000,000.

Suddenly, the light was gone. It was completely dark and there were some strange noise. After one minute, the light went back and the famous painting was gone.

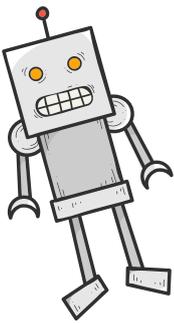

Detective Ron arrived at the crime scene. He sealed off the crime scene immediately, looked for clues and collected evidence. He began to interview the witnesses. The cleaner said, 'I heard some strange noise when the light was gone.'

And the security guard said, 'The light went dark and I heard someone was walking.' The tourist said, 'I think I saw something on the floor when the light went off.'

Detective Ron was deep in thought. After ten minutes, he announced who the thief was. 'The thief is the tourist, because there was a strand of hair on the floor and the strand of hair is not from a man, so it is not the security guard. The footprint is the same as the tourist, so the thief is the tourist.' The tourist tried to run away, but Detective Ron caught her and called the police.

Lastly, the police sent the tourist into jail and took back the painting.

PRIMARY FIVE WHO STOLE THE PAINTING?

In a very far city, there was a brand new museum called Painting Museum. There were many famous drawings in the museum. Everyone in the city liked to go there.

It was three o'clock in the city. Painting Museum was filled with joy. There was a cleaner Emily, a young tourist called Ellie, a security guard called Ben. Ellie was a young girl and she had long hair. She was about six years old, but she had an iphone. She was taking a photo of "Catalisa". Painting Museum was filled with joy. It was all normal.

Suddenly, the lights all went out. 'Help!' shouted Emily the cleaner. She was a weak and easily scared girl. After about five minutes, the lights went on again. How weird? The weirdest thing was – the drawing was stolen! 'What! I thought the electricity just went out for a while and after the lights came on again, it will be all normal again! Why had it disappeared?' asked Emily the cleaner. So, Ellie the little girl who had an iphone called her dad Detective Ron.

Detective Ron sealed off the crime scene and looked for clues. He said, 'Umm... I think there are two suspects. There are two pairs of footprints and fingerprints.' Then he said, 'After I checked the footprints, I think it is the security guard's footprint.' Detective Ron was a clever and old man, so his daughter Ellie was clever too.

Then, he found Tom and Ben the security guards. Tom and Ben were cheeky and they were tall and thin. Tom and Ben didn't think that they could keep the secret anymore, so they turned themselves in to Detective Ron.

Ben said, 'I turned off the lights and I stole the drawing, then I gave it to Tom and he put it in his room.' 'Sorry!' said Ben and Tom together. Detective Ron said, 'If you guys return the drawing back here, you guys will not receive punishment, But if you guys don't, you guys will go to jail.'

After that Tom returned the drawing from his room and Detective Ron brought Ellie back to his house. Everything went normal again.

On the night of 11th November, at the Art Museum, something happened that day.

A boy said 'it is beautiful! I love it very much!' Someone said 'woo! 'It is the best painting in the museum.' This is a CCTV video. A detective called Ron said 'I think nothing happened. Can you fast track it to 11 o'clock?' The painting was gone. Everyone thought someone stole it. In the CCTV, a man called Guard Ben said 'I want to have dinner, you stand in here.' Then he went away.

After twenty minutes on CCTV, suddenly the light was gone! Then many people shouted 'Help! What is happening?' At this time, someone took the painting. Then, everyone was quiet. Suddenly, there were some gun sounds.

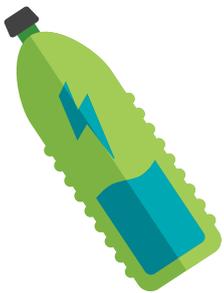

Detective Ron watched the CCTV. He called all the suspects in the crime scene, because the thief was one of the suspects.

All the suspects went to the crime scene, three guards, a tourist and a cleaner. But the tourist was not at the crime scene because someone shot the tourist. Ron thought to himself, 'the thief had a gun, who would have a gun?' He shouted, 'Oh! The guard has a gun!'

Then, Ron watched the CCTV again to see the museum door, no one went out the door. Suddenly, Ron shouted, 'the thief is Guard Ben!' Ron took the guard to the police office. Guard Ben said he was the thief.

Did you know why Ron knew? Because Guard Ben said he wanted to have dinner at 11 o'clock, but no one went out the museum door in the CCTV video. So Ron knew it was Guard Ben!

Yesterday, the museum had a new painting put in the museum. The ugly tourist Marie went to the museum. The cleaner Mary went there too. The security guard John was working there, so he was there too. They saw the painting and they went to take a photo of it.

Suddenly, someone turned off the light. They all shouted 'What is happening here? The light is turned off! Help!' And someone heard a strange noise. When the light went back on, they found the painting was stolen. The police sealed off the crime scene. They called the world famous detective – Detective Ron to come here. He was smart and he was short. He went there and saw some bloodstains on the floor, they collected the blood and took it for examination.

And Mary said she heard a strange noise. John said he saw the thief was a girl, she was fat and ugly, but he didn't know who it was. Detective Ross went to interview them at the police station. Marie shouted 'It is not me! I didn't steal the painting. If you don't know who it was, there were other people. You can check also check my house too.' Detective Ross replied, 'I don't need to know about that Marie!' Marie said 'I didn't steal the painting, you can check my hotel.' Then Detective Ross went to Marie's hotel to check if there was the painting. He could not find anything. Then he asked John to give the CCTV tape to him. They saw Marie and they arrested the thief – Marie and took her to the police station.

Today, Ms. Lee Museum was missing a famous cat painting. There was a cleaner, a security guard and a tourist. They were all suspects but they were also witnesses too. The famous cat painting cost $9897850. The painting was called 'The Cat's Starry Night'.

Suddenly, the lights were gone and it went completely dark. The tourist said, 'What was happening?' The cleaner said, 'The lights had gone out!' And the security guard said, 'Help!' So everyone didn't know what happened, they called Detective Ron to come.

Detective Ron asked the cleaner the time when the light went off. The cleaner said, 'It was 12 p.m.' The security guard said, 'It was 2 p.m.' And the tourist said, 'It was 11:50 a.m.' Detective Ron did not know who stole the painting.

At four o'clock, Detective Ron saw the news saying today there were many stolen things. The suspect was the cleaner. So Detective Ron saw the cleaner and let her go home. Then Detective Ron went to her home and saw the painting in her home. So policemen brought the cleaner to jail.

This Sunday, Forbe's Big Museum's painting was stolen. In the museum, there were the tourist, the cleaner and the security guard. The painting was $10000000. It was a painting by Forbe Wong.

Detective Ron came to the museum and investigated all the people. Detective Ron knew the cleaner was helpful and hardworking but the security guard was lazy and stupid. So Detective Ron thought he was a suspect. The tourist was nice and curious.

After that, the tourist always asked about the painting, 'How much is the painting?' So Detective Ron had two suspects. At this time, Detective Ron heard some noises in the toilet. So he ran to the toilet.

Detective Ron found the painting in the toilet. Detective Ron used his magnifying glass and found many fingerprints. The fingerprints belonged to the tourist. Detective Ron pointed at the tourist and shouted, 'You are the thief!'

Yesterday, in a painting museum, there were only a few people in the room where the most famous painting in the world was. The cleaner was dusting the shelves in another room. The lazy security guard was guarding the painting, in case someone stole it. The evil tourist was making a plan to steal the famous painting.

Suddenly, the power went out. It was completely dark and there were some strange noises. Then, the power came back. But the painting was gone! So the lazy security guard called the smart Detective Ron.

When he arrived, he sealed off the crime scene and he interviewed the suspects. First, he interviewed the kind cleaner. Detective Ron asked her, 'What were you doing when the power went out?' The kind cleaner replied, 'What? I didn't know what happened! I was having lunch outside!'

Then he interviewed the lazy and fat security guard. He said, 'I went to the toilet. I didn't feel well. Since the power went out, I brought my phone to the toilet so I can turn on my flash light on my phone.'

After that, he interviewed the tourist. He said 'I was doing research on the computer in the museum.' So now Detective Ron knew what they all did when the power went out.

Detective Ron went to the room with the famous painting in it. He found some fingerprints and a strand of hair. He collected all the evidence and put them in the evidence bag. He tested the suspects and the strand of hair matched the tourist's hair! And the fingerprints also matched the tourist's!

At last, Detective Ron said with confidence, 'I know who the thief is!' Everyone was surprised and the tourist was very scared now. He tried to escape but Detective Ron shouted 'Stop right there thief.' But the tourist already ran away. Luckily, the police and Detective Ron caught the thief.

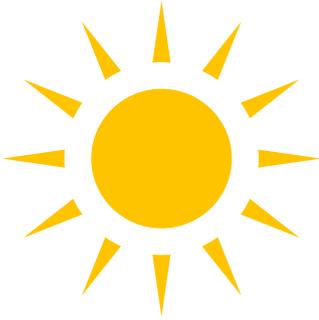

In the end, the tourist got a few punishments. So he gave the painting back to the museum and the tourist got a really bad punishment – it was jail time for two years!

PRIMARY FIVE WHO STOLE THE PAINTING?

Last Sunday, something happened in Big Museum. Inside Big Museum were three people. There was a cleaner, a security guard and a tourist. They were in a room that had a famous painting. The cleaner was cleaning the room. She was a young girl who was short and thin. She was soft. The security guard was resting in that room.

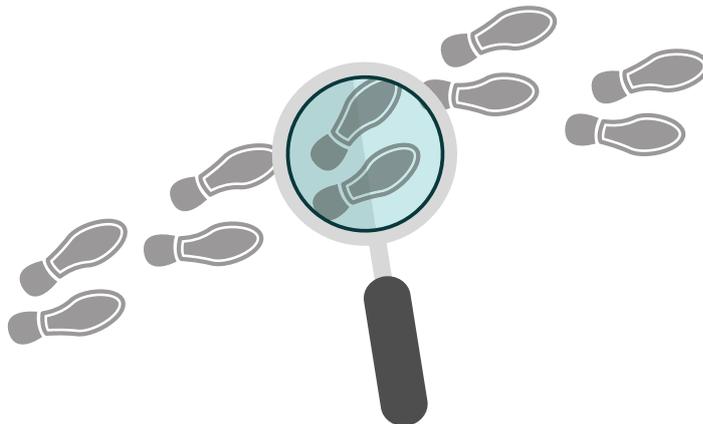

He was an old man who was short. He was strict but gentle. The tourist admired the painting. The tourist was a young girl who was tall and thin. She was a clever girl.

Suddenly the lights went out and there was a strange noise. The lights turned on after 3 minutes. They were frightened because the painting was gone.

The security guard called Detective Ron. Detective Ron was a young man who was tall and thin. He was also smart and clever. They told him everything that happened in Big Museum. Before Detective Ron interviewed them, he looked for clues. He found some fingerprints on the wall and some footprints on the floor. Detective Ron interviewed the cleaner. She said, "When the lights went out I heard some footsteps. I think someone was running." The security guard said, "I think someone next to me was gone." The tourist said, "I don't know anything, I am very frightened. Detective Ron knew who stole the painting. He went to the police station and told them it was the tourist. The tourist said she just wanted the beautiful painting. She learned she shouldn't steal things next time.

Yesterday, at 12:00am, the famous art museum was about to close. The cleaner, who had blonde hair and a good heart, was cleaning. The security guard who had a strict look, but was really kind, was guarding the museum. The tourist was admiring the painting. She had brown hair and a brave heart. Suddenly the cleaner screamed. The lights had gone out. The guard immediately called Detective Ron to solve the case. When Detective Ron came he interviewed everyone at the crime scene. He asked, "Did anyone see the suspect? What were you doing before the lights went out?" "I was cleaning and suddenly I heard footsteps behind me! But when I turned back I saw nothing" shouted the cleaner. "I heard a scream whilst I was guarding, I wanted to see if anyone was hurt. But the lights went out!" said the guard. "I was just admiring the painting, until the lights went out, none of us saw the person that went behind the cleaner," replied the tourist. "How strange! Well then, I will have to investigate the crime scene." The detective took out his magnifying glass and looked for clues. Sadly, the detective took several hours to find clues. Everyone started to argue about who was the suspect. After a while the detective found a trail of clues! Fingerprints, footprints and a strand of hair. He followed the clues which led to a secret tunnel! While they were in the secret tunnel, they saw the painting they were looking for. Then they saw a little girl behind it. Everyone was angry. They shouted and screamed at her. The little girl was brave and said, "You have no idea how poor I am. You don't know how I escaped from the orphanage! I just want to sell the painting and get money for food to survive. You people give no mercy to children!" Soon they forgave her and she was lucky enough to have the cleaner adopt her! She was also lucky she was not arrested. They returned the painting and everyone went home to sleep. The case was closed for Detective Ron.

One night, the security guard, the cleaner and a tourist were in an art museum. The security guard was looking around the museum. The cleaner was cleaning the floor and the tourist was looking at a painting of a cat. The painting King of the Cats cost $90,000,000,000. The painter was Max Chan. Suddenly the light went out and the museum was completely dark. Everyone shouted. The security guard shouted, "What is happening?!" The cleaner yelled, "The lights have gone out!" and the tourist shouted, "Help!" The tourist then tried to escape from the museum but they could not run away because the museum door was closed. The tourist couldn't get away. Detective Ron arrived at the museum. Detective Ron found some footprints on the floor. After Detective Ron finished watching the CCTV he found out who the thief was. Detective Ron pointed at the tourist. Her bag was very big. She had hidden the painting in her bag.

PRIMARY FIVE WHO STOLE THE PAINTING?

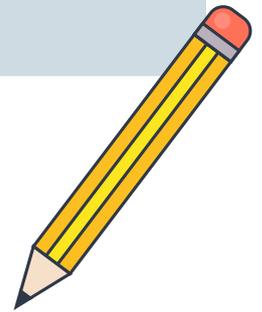

Yesterday, in the Paris Painting Museum, someone stole the famous cat painting. There were three suspect and three witnesses. The police sealed off the crime scene to keep people out. Detective Ron was a tall man who had a big, brown hat. He loved thinking. He cared for those around him and he was clever too. He looked for clues at the crime scene. He interviewed the witnesses about what happened. The witnesses said, "Yesterday the cleaner, guard and a tourist were looking at a painting. Suddenly the lights went out. There were strange noises. We were frightened so we ran away." "Thanks!" said Detective Ron. He found some evidence and collected it. Detective Ron told the suspects he had found footprints and a strand of hair. The cleaner said that from 12-2pm she was cleaning. Then she went to the curtain and swept the dust away. She was a slim girl who was timid and shy. She always smiled. The security guard was an old man who was strong and brave. He said that he was helping a visitor. After Detective Ron had listened to them he knew who the thief was. He said, "Security guard, you are the thief!" Then he went over to the curtain and found the painting. "You wanted to take it back, but you saw the police. Then you hid it behind the curtain!" Everyone was shocked and they stared at the guard. "How did you know?" he asked. The police arrested him. "You said you were helping a visitor right? The painting was stolen between 1-2pm, but the visitor came at 2:10pm. So you lied!" said Detective Ron. "No!" the guard screamed. Detective Ron smiled. He was happy that they had found the painting. After that no more paintings went missing for the Paris Painting Museum.

Yesterday, at the art museum. There was a security guard, who was tall and strict with a brave personality. There was also a cleaner who had a thin and beautiful face with a shy personality. Finally there was a tourist who was an ugly 5 year old girl. They were standing in front of a famous painting. The security guard was monitoring the museum and the tourist was admiring the painting. Suddenly the lights went out. The museum was completely dark and they heard a strange noise. When the light returned, the painting was gone! So the guard called the detective to come investigate who stole the painting. When the lights were gone, nobody could see anything. So no one knew who stole the painting. When the detective arrived he asked the guard if he could see the CCTV. So the guard replied, "Sure, we have CCTV that can see in the dark." So the guard brought the detective to the CCTV room. It was the tourist that stole the painting! They searched for her but she was gone. At last detective Ron found the tourist in a cupboard. The detective caught the tourist and the painting was returned.

At Hello Museum, there was a cleaner, a guard and a tourist. They were all looking at a painting. The painting was special because the cat in the painting was so cute. It was worth $100,000,000. It was expensive because the painter was famous. Suddenly, the lights at the museum turned off. It was completely dark and there was a strange noise. The tourist asked, "What is happening?" The cleaner said, "The lights have gone out!" The guard shouted, "Help!" Then, someone told Detective Ron to go to the museum. Detective Ron arrived at the museum. He said, "The painting is gone and there is something on the floor!"

Detective Ron looked for clues. They were all scared. Detective Ron was studying their facial expressions. He asked them plenty of questions. Lastly detective Ron checked the CCTV. He saw a shadow. It belonged to the tourist. Then he realized that the tourist's bag was very big. The painting was inside, so the tourist was the thief! She was handcuffed and sent to jail.

WHO STOLE THE PAINTING?

Yesterday, the Pet Museum was getting ready to close at 7 p.m. There were only three people left in the museum. There was a cleaner, a security guard and a tourist. The cleaner was cleaning the museum. The security guard was guarding a ten billion dollar cat painting. It was painted by the famous artist Lenoardo de Vinci. The tourist, who came all the way from France, was admiring the expensive cat painting. The cleaner, the security guard and the tourist were all near the painting. Suddenly, the lights went out! Everybody panicked! The security guard said, "Don't panic! I'll go find the circuit and fix it. So, the security guard turned on his flashlight and went to fix the lights. After the security guard fixed the lights, he ran back and he saw the valuable cat painting was gone! The security guard called Detective Ron and sealed off the crime scene. Detective Ron arrived and he looked at the crime scene and asked everyone what they were doing when the lights went out. "I panicked at first, but when the lights were turned back on, I was relieved," said the cleaner. "I went to fix the circuit," said the security guard. "I was admiring that painting until the lights were turned off. I was scared and tried to find my phone, but I couldn't remember where

I put it," said the tourist. "Hmm, so the security guard went to fix the lights, which means it's either the cleaner or the tourist," said Detective Ron. The cleaner and tourist pointed at each other and argued. Detective Ron looked around the crime scene again and found a button. He pressed the button and he found a vault full of paintings and money. The cleaner and the tourist saw the vault and they were shocked. Detective Ron found trash in the vault. He looked at the cleaner and asked, "Would you mind confessing?" The cleaner was nervous. She paused first but then she burst into tears and started confessing. Apparently, the cleaner's father died in a car accident when he was five. Her mother was sick with cancer when she started working. So, she stole paintings and sold them for money to cure her mother. She made a vault and put all the paintings in it. Even though Detective Ron was touched by her story, he still had to arrest her.

One day at a museum, a short, fat and mean security guard was staring at the famous Mona Lisa painting. A tall tourist that had a big bag was also looking at the painting. A short cleaner was mopping the floor. Suddenly, the lights went out. When the lights came back on, the painting was missing and a random detective was standing there. The guard asked, "Where did you come from? Who are you? Why are you here?" The detective replied, "Oh...erm...ehh... oh! I'm here to investigate the crime scene like a normal detective, and my name is DETECTIVE RON! Now I'm going to seal off the crime scene, shoo, run along now!" "Hey wait!" said the guard, whilst eating a doughnut, "You can't just seal off the crime scene like that. We need your ID and the police. We have to see if you're a real detective!"

The short cleaner said, "I called the police 20 minutes ago, they should be here in 1 minute."

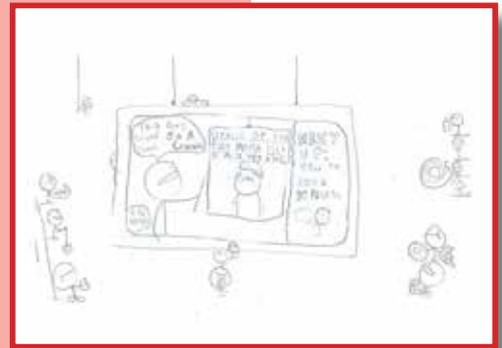

When the police arrived, Detective Ron started to look worried. His hands started to shake. The police started to seal off the crime scene. Next they questioned everyone. After that they asked the tourist, "Who's that guy wearing a detective uniform?" The tourist said, "He's called Detective Ron" The guard started to eat another doughnut and the crumbs fell onto the floor. The police walked towards Detective Ron. They asked, "Do you know where the painting is?" Detective Ron began to run, but he slipped on doughnut crumbs and fell over. The painting fell out of his jacket. They cuffed him and brought him to court.

At court, Ron was super scared. The judge said, "Firstly, I want to ask, why did you steal the painting?" Detective Ron replied, "Well, erm... you see this painting is so beautiful. But the museum is so dirty, so I wanted to bring it home where it is very clean. I'm so generous!"

The judge said, "That's just stupid, send him to the cells! When you're ready to tell the truth, tell the guards!" Ron waited in the cells for two hours, then he said, "I'm ready!"

"What's your real name?" asked the judge. "My name is Snelny Snelny" Ron replied.

"What's your REAL name!?" yelled the judge. "I said my name is Snelny Snelny, why does nobody ever believe me?" They immediately arrested Snelny Snelny and he spent the rest of his life in jail.

On a random Monday in the Happy Art Museum at 6:45pm, a crime happened. The famous painting 'Catalisa' was stolen by a thief! This is what happened...

At 5:45pm, Ellie the cleaner was sweeping the floor, Ronnie the guard was patrolling the halls with a torch. Emily the tourist was showing other people some paintings. Suddenly, all of the lights went out. Everybody was freaking out! So Ronnie called his police friends and told them to get Detective Holmes to help him to investigate the crime. When Detective Holmes arrived, he was holding a magnifying glass and looking for clues. Suddenly he said excitedly, "Hey! Everybody come look! There is a footprint here!" He demanded everybody take off their shoes to see who would fit the footprint. Surprisingly, nobody fit the footprint!

Then Detective Holmes interviewed the witnesses. He asked Ellie, "What were you doing at the time the painting was stolen?" Ellie was shaking, she was a weak and introverted girl. She answered him quietly, "Um... I... I just finished p... packing my stuff and I was a... about to go back to my house." Then Detective Holmes asked Ronnie the same question. He answered, "I was at the light switches trying to make the lights brighter, who knew it'd suddenly get dark?" Detective Holmes felt suspicious about Ronnie because he heard that Ronnie was strict and rude to everybody. So Detective Holmes said, "Oh really?" He then asked the same question to Emily. She answered, "I was still roaming around the museum." Detective Holmes thought she was telling the truth because he heard she was honest and helpful. But anybody can commit a crime. Then Detective Holmes took DNA samples from the footprint. Two days later the result came back. It was 100% the same DNA as Ronnie! Ronnie was arrested and he told everybody why he stole the painting. He said, "My mother was badly ill and I couldn't afford the treatment. I'm so sorry!" The next day Detective Holmes found the 'Catalisa' painting in Ronnie's house. He returned the painting and Ronnie was fired by the museum.

In the United Kingdom there was a museum. Their paintings were very beautiful. They were painted by some famous painters. They were also very expensive. One day, the museum's lights suddenly turned off. Everyone ran out of the museum and the guard called the fire station. After two days, the museum was open again, but a famous painting had gone. The police called Detective Ron. He came to the museum and saw something special, a piece of glass and a very small footprint. Detective Ron asked the guard, "Did you see anything?" The security guard said, "I only saw a light." The tourist and cleaner said the same thing. After that the police kept investigating and they knew who the suspect was. The police drove to a home. The 2 suspects saw them and started to run but the police caught them.

Cavan Yiu • 5B • 25

At 8am, the cleaner and the security guard went to the museum to start work. At that moment, there was a black object flying around the museum. It went towards a famous painting of the Eiffel Tower. It stole the painting. Later witnesses told Detective Ron what they saw. Detective Ron thought it was a tourist, he asked the tourist, "What were you doing at 8am?" The tourist said, "I was asleep in bed." Detective Ron said, "You're lying, you are the thief!" Lastly, the tourist gave back the painting to the museum.

If I could have a Pet...

If I could have a pet, I'd have a cat. This is because cats don't like to go to the park. They like to just stay at home like me. I think it'd go to the park just once a month. Cats are cute! They have short hair (if you help them to cut it), big eyes and a small mouth. They like to eat fish and catch mice. I hope that I can have eyes like a cat because their eyes can see at night, even if there's no light. A cat would jump to the street if I didn't watch it. So if I go to play, I'd close the windows. If I couldn't have a cat, I'd have a dog. This is because last month I saw a movie about four dogs and their owner's moving experiences. So I want to have a dog too. I'd walk it every morning.

The Last Day

Yesterday was my best hockey friend's last day in Hong Kong. He is an excellent hockey player! We have been friends since I was eight. We went to Megabox for dinner. We chose a pizza restaurant and took a seat. Afterwards, we all played video games for 20 minutes. Then we played with balloons. We played football and volleyball with them, but it was not exciting enough. So we decided to play something crazy! We started to jump on the balloons and we even filled some up with water! We played with water balloons and they were so bouncy. We thought it was hilarious! At last we threw a water balloon high in the air and it burst with a loud sound. I think it's a good idea to do something naughty before a friend leaves. We coloured our last shared memory with a slight sense of guilty fun. Isn't it beautiful? I'm sure our paths will cross again.

My Trip during summer

In summer, I joined a lot of activities. I also had a family trip to Japan. So today I will share about my family trip at the end of July. We almost didn't catch the plane because we were asleep in bed. It was 9 O' clock when we arrived at the hotel. On the second day, we took a train to Kobe. We went to the 'weathercock house' and the 'Moegi House'. These two houses have many years of history in Japan. They are also a part of world heritage. We saw how beautiful old Japanese houses were. Then we went to eat Kobe beef. This beef is very famous. We went to a famous restaurant to eat it. A lot of local people had recommended it. The beef melted in my mouth, it was delicious. Then, we went to Kobe Port Tower. It's very tall. When we arrived at the top I could see a beautiful view of Osaka and Kobe. I felt calm and took many photos of the view. Finally we went to Sannonmija Shopping Street. It was very long, we took 35 minutes to walk to the end. In the next few days we visited many famous tourist spots. Such as Kyoto Railway Museum, the Cup Noodle museum, Kyoto Tower, Kuromon Market and the Mitsui Outlet. The most profound place was the Cup Noodle Museum because I could make a 'DIY Cup Noodle'. I could choose the ingredients and soup base by myself I ate so much Japanese food. I was heavier after the trip. I felt amazing during this trip. I learned many things and visited a lot of museums. What a fun and interesting trip!

Frozen II

Last Saturday, Mum and I went to watch the movie 'Frozen 2'. The story is about Queen Elsa of Arendelle. She hears a mysterious voice calling out to her and her kingdom is attacked by something mysterious. So Elsa and her sister Anna go to the enchanted forest to find the truth. There they meet a tribe called Northuldra and the protectors of fire, water, soil and wind. Elsa tames them. At last Elsa found out that she is the fifth protector of nature. At the end Elsa becomes the protector of the forest and Anna becomes queen. After the movie I liked Elsa best because she was the bravest and most beautiful person in the story. I think the funniest person was Kristoff because he tried to propose to Anna but failed every time. I found that every character had changed by the end of the story. Elsa cared more for herself and her family. Kristoff found that his love was not as weak as he imagined. Olaf found that love is eternal. Finally, Anna became a great leader! I like this movie a lot!

Birthday

Today is my birthday, but I'm not very lucky. That is because today is also the wedding day of my aunt. Most unfortunately, my aunt's husband is a foreigner! It means I need to speak English to him! Although I feel very annoyed, the wedding has to be happy. So I sat down and did my MJ. I didn't leave my seat until my mother told me to see the 'ring exchange ceremony'. It was really grand. The wedding witnesses made some jokes, so everyone was relaxed and laughed. After the ceremony everyone started to eat dinner. I was full. Today was really memorable!

My Library Book

Last Sunday I went to the library to borrow some books. There was a book I liked a lot. It was called 'The Land of Stories'. It was about three children who found a map.

After they found the map, they took some things they needed and went on an adventure. First they found a boat. They went to another land. It was dangerous because there were many battles. Luckily they came back to their world, where there weren't any battles. I want to share this book with you because some of the content is funny.

The Competition

Today I woke up early because a teacher asked me to go to a Rumikub competition at a secondary school. I saw Oris and Vincent. Then I went to get my number. I couldn't find my name! I was very anxious because I was afraid I went to the wrong school. However, I checked the notification, I wasn't wrong. My teacher was wrong because the last competition was cancelled. He thought I could go to this one. If Ray didn't come I could replace him and join the competition. I was surprised because Ray was still sick, so I could join! The teachers said, "There are three matches in round one!" During the first round I played seriously and used my brain to outwit my opponent. I was lucky and won the match. During the next match I carefully examined what cards I could use, I won that too! I lost the third match, but I had fun playing. Finally, I got 71 points. I told my mum, she was ecstatic! I got through to the next round. My opponent was very strong. I think he played with his parents a lot or he was good at maths. Although he won two matches and got 101 marks, I got 102. So I won the round. In the final round I managed to win one match. I was elated because I won a total of 4 matches. I hope I can get stronger and join the competition again.

A Birthday Party

On Monday, I went to my friend's birthday party. It was so lively, I played on a trampoline! I jumped very high. Then my friend's mother said, "Rex, you almost reached the top, come back!" Afterwards I played dodgeball, I hit so many people during the game. Then we sang the birthday song and ate some food. After that, we went to another place to play. There was a snooker table, table tennis and an arcade. I played snooker and table tennis. It was a lot of fun! I had a match with my friend. Although I lost, I was satisfied. I had a great time at my friend's birthday party.

Harry Potter

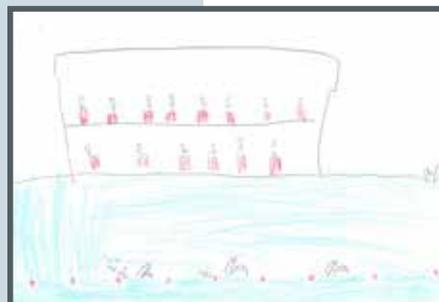

Once you have read Harry Potter you will realise it is a name that will always be with you. For your whole life, no matter where you go or how you live your life, Harry Potter will be there, having an impact on your life. You see, Harry Potter is not just a regular, common name, but the name of an amazing person. Full of bravery, courage, fear, love, confusion, knowledge and understanding. Despite being a fictional character, he is the kind of person you can just fall in love with. Everything about him makes him special and unique. My favourite book is the Prisoner of Azkaban. Why? Because my favourite character is Sirius Black. This book is funny and interesting. I love Hogsmeade! Who is your favourite character? Which is your favourite book in the series? Where is your favourite place?

Swimming

Today I went to join a swimming competition at Tsing Yi Swimming Pool with my mother. When I got to the pool, the atmosphere was very lively. So I felt happy. In my first competition we did the 50m freestyle. After that I went to eat lunch and take a rest. In the afternoon I had my second competition, which was the 50M breaststroke. After that I went back home. I felt very happy because I had made progress in these two competitions. I hope I can join another competition soon!

Grandmother's Home

Today, I went to my Grandmother's home. She lives in Sheung Shui. I went by MTR with my parents and sister. On the MTR I saw so many flowers and fields outside. They looked like they were saying, "Hello!" to me. Then we arrived at my grandmother's house. Her dog welcome us first. She is so cute! Then my grandmother said, "I have your favourite food for dinner!" I was so happy about this. My cousin was there too, playing video games. "Do you play video games?" he asked. "Yes, I do!" I replied. We enjoyed playing games together. It was a lot of fun! Then it was dinnertime. The food was so delicious! After we finished dinner, we watched TV and went home. What a wonderful day!

A Trip to China

Last Friday we went to China with my dad's colleagues, Yoko and Hilda. My sister and I left school early (yay!) during a double maths lesson (double yay!). We set off to the airport in a taxi. When we arrived we went to check in our tickets. The lady said, "Let me see your VISA." Then my dad looked into his bag, but couldn't find it! Oh no!

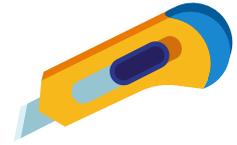

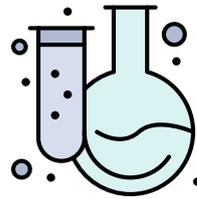

The lady told us that we need the VISA or we cannot get into China. My dad asked if we could go anyway, but the lady said no. Everyone was panicking. Finally my dad said, "Pearl and I will go to Mong Kok, everyone else stay here!" We dropped all of our luggage and ran for the MTR. Luckily we left school early, so we had two hours left. We dashed to the VISA place and there was a huge queue! Then my dad told me to wait at the end of the line and he barged to the front. Luckily the dude at the front was talking on his phone so he let us go. We got the VISA and rushed back to the airport. We met up with Yoko, Hilda and my sister. I was so hungry because I didn't eat anything for breakfast. We ordered some food. It was delicious (though I thought it would be better because it's by Gordon Ramsay the famous chef!). Anyway, we got on the plane, I did some homework but didn't eat the smelly plane food. There were no TVs to watch so I was very bored. When we finally arrived in Shanghai, we had to get in a taxi. When we arrived at the hotel they didn't let us in! How rude! So Yoko called Jenny who planned things. After waiting for a long time we went to the nearest hotel we could find. When we got there it seemed like a nice place. We got to our room, unpacked everything and ordered takeaway. Once we had eaten, my sister took a shower. Suddenly she screamed, "There is a spider in the shower!" She started to flick water at the spider. My dad came in and used the shower hose to drown it (Yay, it's dead!). After that we noticed another spider in the corner of the bathroom by the toilet (why couldn't it choose the other side?). After that we went to sleep.

My Favourite Computer Games

First of all, my favourite game is Fortnite. This is because I like to play shooting and killing games. I also like building games, so Fortnite has everything I like in a game. Secondly, I like to play Survivio.io because the game is basically a 2D Fortnite game, but you can't build anything.

There is a mode that is 50 vs 50 and it is very cool. Also you can change clothes, like wearing a ghillie suit. The guns are awesome too!

My third favourite game is Minecraft. Everyone knows that Minecraft is a cool game. There are all kinds of games to play in Minecraft, like bed wars, sky wars etc. That is the first reason I like to play Minecraft. The second reason is that I like to play building games. In Minecraft you can build your own home and defend it. These are my favourite games? What about you?

The Swimming Competition

Today I woke up early because I have a swimming competition in Tsuen Wan. So at 8:00am I went to eat some food and then I went to the swimming pool. I will swim 4x50 metres freestyle. The water was very cold. At last I won the competition. I was very happy. I learned if we work hard, we can win competitions. Afterwards, my mum and I went with my grandfather to eat dinner. We ate lots of food. We had fish, meat and vegetables. I like to eat all of these things. If I get first place next time my mum will buy a big gift for me!

Meteorological Explorers

Today I joined an activity that was very cool called 'Meteorological explorers'. This activity can help me learn many things about meteorology. First I went to a centre that organised this event. The teachers divided us into 4 teams: Leo team, Aries team, Sagittarius team and Taurus team. I was put into the Leo team, but my star sign is Sagittarius. I was shy when I met my team members. Fortunately, my team members were all very kind and friendly. This helped me to assimilate into the team very quickly. We did many things today. My favourite thing was to make a little light that you can put near your bed at night. It was nice and beautiful. I felt happy today. I was so lucky to have nice team members.

My Favourite Sports

The sports I like are dodgeball, taekwondo, running and basketball. I like dodgeball because dodgeball is very stimulating. You need to avoid or catch the ball. If someone hits you with the ball you are out. If you are out you need to go outside and help your teammates to hit someone. I like taekwondo because it is very challenging. You need to use your foot to break the board. Taekwondo has 10 levels, not I am black belt. I like to run because running is a fun sport. When you are faster than someone you will feel happy. I like basketball because basketball is also very challenging. You need to shoot the ball into the basket. I am happy because I am a member of the basketball team at school.

The Book Editing Workshop

I joined a workshop in Sha Tin last Saturday. This workshop is about editing work in student's books. I found that most of the people there were secondary school students. I learned more about the job of book editing for primary and kindergarten students. There were some quizzes about this job. The group with the most answers got the prize. I learned it takes nearly two years to make a primary school book. I thought it was just typing words and doing some research. I learned that there is a review of primary school book publishing. There are three levels, A, B and C. The highest level is A, which means your book has passed. Level B means there are some mistakes in your book and it needs to be rewritten and reviewed again. Level C means it was completely terrible. One thing made me very surprised. Do you know who Steve Jobs was? He was the co-founder of Apple computers. Although he was a co-founder, he was also an editor before. I learnt many new things in this workshop. I feel bad for editors because they couldn't put their names or photos on the books they edited. I hope I could join more similar workshops in the future!

My Dream House

Today I will share about my dream house. I have three kinds of dream house. The first one is a quiet home. I want a quiet home because I want to take a rest there. This home will have backyard because I want to relax there. In the backyard I would plant an apple tree because I want to eat some fresh fruit. I also want to put a swing there too! My second dream home is a computer home. Why do I want this? It is because I want to surf the internet and play some online computer games. So I want a computer home. My third dream home is a happy house. I want this because I want to be happy every day. So I would be happy if I had this house. These are my dream homes, what about yours?

I'm Happy When...

Today I was moaning that there was too much homework. Actually it was not that much. In fact I just wanted to watch TV when I got home. Suddenly Mr. Chong gave out a notice paper about our trip to Okinawa. I was happy when I heard about that. We looked at the paper quickly but seriously. After I got home I turned on the computer. I found that we were staying at a four star hotel. It is called the Okinawa Nahana Hotel! Although the camp starts on 5th April, 2020 (about 6 months away) I am already planning for the trip. I will still study hard though. At first my mum and dad didn't really want me to go because it was a little bit expensive. They were also scared that I couldn't take care of myself. But after I told them I could, they said I could go!

My Weekend

Today, after finishing my homework I took my tortoise for a walk. It is so cute! Then my family watched a movie. It was about a boy who is very smart. He solves all of his problems. This movie was funny and interesting. After that we rode bikes. My sister and I didn't know how to ride bikes so we sat on the chair at the back. Although I learned how to ride a bike before, I still can't do it. My brother likes to play on his phone a lot, so he almost fell onto the ground. I learned we need to be careful.

On Saturday I met my friend Roy, in the football club. I was happy that I could see my best friend Tim and my other friends. The match was going to begin in 3 minutes. We were discussing how we were going to get a goal. Bui, our coach, told us not to be losers. "Goal!" shouted Tim. The coach was smiling and raised his hands in the air. In the last few minutes of the match it was 2-2. In a great moment I passed the ball to Tim. Tim passed back to me. I took a shot... "Goal!" I shouted. I felt very happy. My team were very happy with me. The coach said, "Well done!"

The Peak

Last Sunday, I went to The Peak in Central with my parents and my sister. I felt delighted because I hadn't been there in a long time. First, we went to the highest place. The view was wonderful and beautiful. All the buildings looked so small and short, just like Lego models. Next, we went to a lovely candy shop. The shop was very big and sold a lot of delicious sweets. The decorations of the shop were meticulous. We bought some candy there. Then, we went to the Peak Tower for shopping. There were many different kinds of shops. For example, there were restaurants, souvenir shops and some special Hong Kong shops. We bought some souvenirs! Finally we went to madness 3D adventure. We took a lot of funny 3D photos. I felt glad because I could visit a famous place in Hong Kong. I hope I can visit more wonderful places in Hong Kong.

Hotpot

This weekend, Mum and I enjoyed a homemade spicy hotpot. We prepared a lot of food. There were slices of duck's blood, pork and many other things. We poured our homemade spicy hot pot soup base into a long and deep pot. We waited for the soup to boil. After a few minutes it was boiling. We put in the duck's blood slices and mushrooms. I like bean curds and pork slices so much because the bean curds are very silky and the pork is juicy. I didn't like the vegetables because they became too spicy, especially the baby corn. They were covered with chilli oil once they were put into the pot. Mum had a stomachache, but luckily I felt alright. Lastly we enjoyed jelly and milk. We drank about 3 cups of milk!

I thought this spicy hotpot was too spicy. I think I would prefer a normal hotpot more.

My Best Friend

Gladys Cheung is my best friend. I met her when I was in Primary 1. We were in the same class and she sat next to me. So we became friends. Gladys is a kind person because she always helps teachers to carry things to the classroom and teaches me to do homework. She is an outgoing person because she is good at swimming. Moreover, she participates in many competitions and has gained many swimming awards. Gladys is taller than me, she is 150cm. She has long black hair and she always has a smile on her face. I remember a special thing about her. It happened on Sport's Day. I participated in a 4x100 relay race with her and two classmates. When I ran towards her, I stepped on her shoe and it fell off. I felt so sorry. However, she didn't mind and kept running. After the race we laughed so loud. I thought it was so funny. I believe that the friendship between Gladys and I will last forever. Primary School life will end soon, but I will cherish the time spent with her. I feel very fortunate to meet my best friend.

Last year, I went to Cyrus's home to play. When I arrived, I played a basketball shooting game with him and Joseph. Cyrus won the game! Next, we went to buy some drinks and Cyrus's father and brother went to buy food for dinner. After dinner, we went to Cyrus's bedroom and saw his pet tortoise. Cyrus's bedroom has a desk to do homework and read books. He has a lot of novels and comics. I read some of his comic books. Cyrus's tortoise was sent to his home by his family's friend a few months ago. I fed it some bananas and vegetables. I heard it chew loudly, "Crunch, crash!" It was also very heavy! Then we played a game, but I lost three times in a row. At last I left Cyrus's house at 9pm, I felt happy!

Sneakgrid and Sneakwing

During this summer holiday, Ingrid came to my home to sleep overnight. She came at half past nine so we could play all day long. We played Super Mario Party on a Nintendo Switch. It was hard to win the Mario Monopoly game! Then we went to Tai Wo Hao Sports Centre to play badminton with my mum. My mum is good at badminton (me too). She taught Ingrid how to play, we both started to play and she was much better than before. I was tired because I was busy catching the shuttlecocks Ingrid threw at me. After that, we took a shower and played video games again. My mum had to go and meet her friends, so she left. My helper cooked a delicious meal for our dinner. Ingrid ate a lot of fried eggs, she loves them.

When we finished, my dad came back from work. We all played on the Switch together (again!). Finally we set up a tent in the dining room. Ingrid and I slept in it. But I couldn't sleep because Ingrid has a snoring problem. I felt a little bit nervous because it was the first time Ingrid came for a sleepover. But it was great fun!

This morning I read some books about the White House. I think being a president is very hard because you have to talk to other countries' leaders and control your own country. My favourite president is Abraham Lincoln because he led a fight to save the union and ended slavery. I want to be a president in the future because I can control the country. I know it is difficult, but I'm interested in the White House and I would like to live there in the future. I want to live there so that I can eat some delicious meals every day. I also want to be famous. I want to thank my mum for buying me this wonderful book.

Interesting STEM

This Saturday, I was invited to join an interesting STEM half day camp. We went to Wai Kiu College according to the schedule. I felt sad because two of my friends were absent. First, we used a microscope to look at onion cells. In history, the first microscope was made in 1595. It was very special. We then tried to find the DNA of a strawberry. The first step is to crush a strawberry and mix it with detergent. We put the fluid into a jar. Finally, we mixed it with alcohol to make a strawberry solution. It's an amazing science. I felt delighted because I could find out more about STEM activities. It was so fun! Thank you to my teachers for giving me the opportunity!

Speech Festival

I went to the 71st English Speech Festival Competition in Causeway Bay. I felt a little bit stressed because I have to be on the stage and there were so many students watching me. When I entered the hall, I saw the judge. She came from England and she was very polite, greeting everyone cheerfully. Suddenly, a student started to cry. He had practised the wrong poem! The judge said, "It's ok, just come up to the stage calmly!" The student said, "I don't want to stand on the stage. I have no marks anyway." The judge told the student to go to the washroom and he felt very embarrassed. I felt sorry for him too. It was my turn to perform. I felt nervous at the beginning but I told myself to keep calm. I followed Mr. Turner's tips and performed the poem fluidly. I also tried my best to have eye contact with everyone. When I finished, everyone clapped their hands loudly. I felt more relaxed and proud of myself. The judge gave me the mark sheet and I received a merit. Although I did not win any prizes, I felt glad because I tried my best. I hope I can join the secondary school speech festival next year!

Save the Environment!

Global warming is a big problem all around the world. Polar bears, penguins and many animals that live in cold places will lose their homes. I read a book about a polar bear who tries to save his home. The bear said, "My friends, look out! We will lose our homes if we do not face up to people! We need ice. People cut down trees and drive cars. This is the cause! I suggest we have a parade so everyone can see the truth!" "We agree," said many of the other polar bears "Ice is nice! Turn stuff off! Solar power, wind power, save our home!" I think we should not use so many electric appliances like air conditioners. We can use fans instead. We should help to save the world.

My Best Friend

My best friend is Aidan. Why is my best friend Aidan? It's because he is a very helpful and generous person. Why do I think he is helpful and generous? It is because he always helps people when they are sad and he always shares his snacks. We became friends in P.4. On that day, I was having a bad time because I got a low mark in dictation. I had even studied it till 11pm the day before. During this time Aidan came and said, "It's not a big problem, no need to be sad." When I listened to what he said, I felt very thankful because it made me feel happy again. Then, he gave me a pack of potato chips and said, "I hope you can get good marks in your next dictation!"

When I became friends with him I learnt we should help others when they are having a bad time.

My Dad was on TV

I want to share an interesting thing with you. Yesterday, when I was doing homework, my father told us that he was going to be on a TV programme. I felt excited about this and stopped doing my homework for a while to watch it. I was wondering what the topic of the programme was and asked him whether he mentioned me in the interview. My father laughed and said the interview was about work and not family. We all laughed at my question. When the programme started broadcasting I learned it was about training older people for reemployment. I found out that my father is doing a meaningful and complicated job. I told myself that I need to work hard to build up my abilities and skills so I can do something meaningful like my father.

The Competition

Yesterday, I joined a football competition for the Southern District Football Club. First, we did some warm up exercises. Next, we started the football match. In the first game the team was strong. But we were not scared. We were courageous and tried our best. In the end it was a draw. In the second game, we won 3-0! I scored 3 goals, my team celebrated with me. Then we played the team from the first game again. At first, the game was tight. Then we gained confidence, we believed we could win the competition. At last, we beat them 5-4. We were delighted! It was a great day!

A School Visit

On Saturday, I did so many things. First, I played football with my sister Sharon. Then I went dancing. After dancing, I went to Disneyland where there was a Halloween party. I went to the Haunted House with my friend. It was very scary, but we didn't cry because we could take lots of candy. At night, we ate fried chicken and French fries in the Rocket restaurant. After we finished our dinner, we went to the Ant Man and the Wasp Nano Battle ride. This ride was very stimulating. We needed to shoot things with a gun. At last, I had fun today. Although I was scared when I went to the Haunted House.

Hotpot

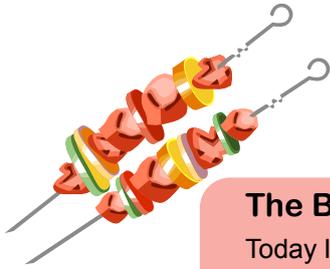

My family likes hotpot a lot! We often eat hotpot twice a month. But when we have a special festival such as a birthday or holiday, we will have it more than twice a month. We have tried Japanese hotpot, Korean hotpot, Cantonese hotpot and Sichuan hotpot in restaurants. We will usually eat hotpots in Kwai Fung, Tsuen Wan or Prince Edward because there are many restaurants to choose from. We can also make hotpot at home. We just need to buy our favourite food and put it in. We can use meat, vegetables, seafood and other things. Making a hotpot is fun and enjoyable. Japanese hotpots can have soup for one or many people. Cantonese hot pot soup has chicken, pork, beef or vegetables. Sichuan hotpot, is very spicy and hot!

I like making and eating hotpots because I enjoy the process. I also love the taste. Everyone loves hotpots! Do you prefer homemade or restaurant hotpots?

The Barbecue

Today I went to a BBQ with my family. Yesterday we went to the supermarket to buy some food. This morning we went to Hung Mui Kuk barbecue area to have the barbecue. When we arrived we saw many Indonesians having a BBQ too. Finally, we found a place to sit. We had lots of rich food, like steak, pork chops, chicken, fish eggs and cuttlefish. I had a lot to eat. When we finished, I played the 'werewolf game'. In the first round, I am the wolf and I caught all of the people. After that, we went back home. I felt happy because I can have a BBQ and play games.

My Birthday

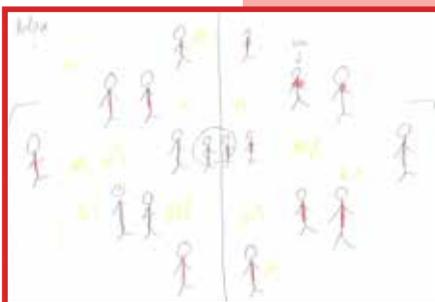

Today is my birthday, the weather was cold. I am 11 years old. I was very excited. After I finished school, I went to learn English at a tutorial centre. Then I went home with my mum. My mum bought me a cake. There were many Toy Story 4 toys on it. I loved it! For my present, I got a new water bottle, a box of glitter pens, a watch, some toys and some DIY boxes. I think they were great! My favourite present is my new water bottle. It is pink and purple and has rabbit ears on it. The material is stainless steel, so it can keep my water warm. My mum wrote, "Make a small but daily progress" on my cake. This was my best birthday ever!

Football

Today is great day because my foot injury got better. Therefore I went to have the football training with my school mates. In the afternoon, after having lunch at school, I got my water bottle ready and went to football. Our coach took us to the football pitch and we trained for 30 minutes. We took a rest and drank some water. At last we went back to school. On the school bus I talked with my friends about school and other funny things. Today I felt glad.

My Birthday

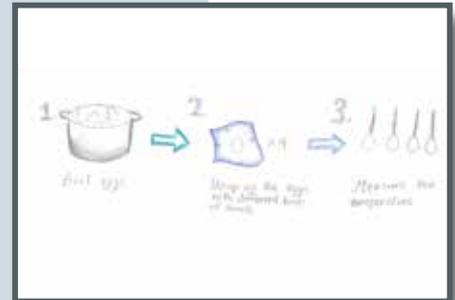

In the last two weeks, we couldn't go to school. We didn't go to school for about 6 days, so I was very bored. On the first day I was happy I could stay at home. I played, did homework and studied. On the second and third day I still didn't feel bored. But when I didn't go to school on the fourth day, I felt bored. I just did the same things, homework, studying and going to the library. On the last day I was happy that I could go back to school and play with my friends. When I was sitting on the school bus I felt excited. I was happy to meet my friends at school because I missed them a lot.

General Studies Project

During these past few weeks, there was a project I needed to do with my groupmates. The project was about how animals protect themselves, how they find food and how they adapt to the environment. My groupmates were Max, Ethan and Nick. Our topic for the project was tortoises and turtles. We found information on 4 types of tortoises and turtles for this experiment. We chose sea turtles, Brazilian Turtles and also the African spurred Tortoise. We boiled eggs and towels to copy the skin of a tortoise, so we could measure the temperature. Last Sunday my groupmates came to my house to do the experiments and finish the project. We needed to make a PowerPoint to introduce the experiments and animals. At last we did the presentation in about 7 minutes. I hope we can get a good mark for this project.

A Rainy Day

Today I went to the park with my friends. First, we played hide-and-seek, but then it started raining. So we went and found a shop to stay in. I took out my phone and played some games. It stopped raining, but it was still wet outside so we couldn't play games. Then, I went back home and played PS4. We played a game called 'FIFA 20'. It is a football game. At last, we had dinner at my house.

National Day

On 1st October 2019, it was a public holiday called National Day. I stayed at home for the whole day. I was very bored and sleepy because there was nothing to do at home. Most of the shopping malls in Hong Kong were closed and not doing any business. Also the busy MTR stations were closed. Therefore I had nowhere to go for fun on that day. I was stuck at home to do homework and revision.

It wasn't so easy to stay at home until the evening. When I watched TV I noticed there were no fireworks celebrations for National Day. After dinner I went to bed to sleep right away. On Tuesday, I had nowhere to go and nothing to do for the whole day. I felt mad on National Day 2019. What a boring day!

A Trip to Taichung

During the last week of August, I went to Taichung with my mum and my brother, Darren. My dad needed to work, so he did not come. After one hour and thirty minutes, we arrived in Taichung. During these 5 days, we went to a lot of places, for example: Gaomei Wetlands, Lih-pao Land Water Park, Rainbow Village, Feng Chiu Night Market and Qingjing Farm. Out of also the places I went to the water park and the farm were the most interesting. The water park was the best in Taiwan.

There were many different rides. For example: Big Wave, water slides and a lazy river.

I love all of the rides, the Big Wave was the best. It was just like a small tsunami, the waves drove us away. I liked it because it was exciting and fun. On the third day, we went to Qingjing Farm. It was on a mountain. We joined a local tour because it was located far away from the city. The mountain is 3275m above sea level. The air was getting thinner as we went higher. I felt dizzy on the bus and threw up during the journey.

Finally, we reached the highest mountain. Although it was chilly, the air was fresh. After we took some photos we went down to the farm which was in the middle of the mountain. We saw a lot of sheep. We also saw a special show about how shepherds cut off sheep's wool. We also saw a sheepdog drive the sheep into a pen. I thought it was amazing! Lastly, I want to thank my mum. Although she was tired, she still brought us for a trip. I hope my dad can come with us for our next holiday!

The Museum

Last Saturday, my mum, my aunt and I went to a museum called 'Monopoly Dream'. It was a great museum. It also had many games, for example, 'Bank Robbery'. It's a five minute story about robbing a bank. The museum was quite far from home. It was on The Peak. The museum was special. There was a room with an elevator. It makes everyone shocked for a second. The museum also had a lot of board games and pillows to buy. Some of the board games were too expensive, so we only purchased little things.

The Birthday Cake

On Saturday, I finished my gymnastics training. I went to Gigi's home to make a cake because it was our friend Vanessa's 12th birthday.

We wanted to make a beautiful cake to celebrate with her. We took the bus, Gigi brought the ingredients. Fifteen minutes later I arrived at her home. We started to make the cake. First, we made a cake, it was very hard to make because we didn't know the size. After that we covered it in icing. It was blue because it was her favourite colour. After that, we put strawberries on the cake. Ten minutes later Vanessa arrived at Gigi's home. When she entered the house she smelt the cake and asked, "What's that smell?" We both said, "Happy Birthday!" to her. We ate the cake together.

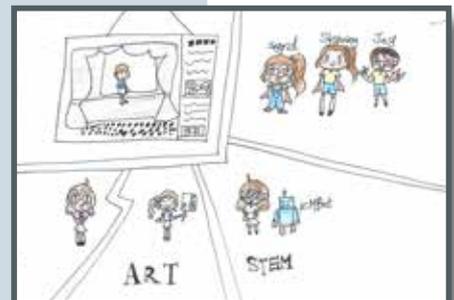

We felt happy and the cake was delicious! Today I felt happy because I could make a great cake for Vanessa.

Secondary School Visit

Today, at a quarter past nine, we were sitting in a classroom at a secondary school. Can you guess which one? The correct answer is HKMA David Li Kwok Po College.

It is in Olympic and I want to go to this school because I like science and art. There a lot of STEM and art activities, which is great. At the school I saw my classmates, Skywing, Ingrid and Joy. Ingrid and I both liked the school. Maybe we will be classmates again in the near future! There's another reason I want to study at this school. It's near my home in Mei Foo! I can go to this school by MTR in about 30 minutes. Also my best friend Charissa wants to go to this school too. So I will have more time to learn and have fun with her (I hope, maybe). I will study and prepare for both my interview and exam. Then hopefully I can study at this school.

My New Glasses

Last Saturday, I went to go get my glasses. What? Glasses! Yes, I am going to wear glasses. Last Saturday I went to the glasses shop.

The man helped me to check my eyes. My right eye is short sighted by one hundred. My left eye is short sighted by fifty. Then, he asked me to choose what type of glasses I want. There are some blue glasses, black glasses, green glasses, and red glasses. In the end, I chose the black glasses. He told me to come back a week later. A week later, I went to get my black glasses. I am now wearing my glasses. They are very curious. Do you like them? I think my new glasses are beautiful!

My Happiest Weekend

Yesterday, I had lots of homework to do because I am a P6 student now! So I have less time to play and relax. Although I had lots of homework, I did not mind working hard so I can get higher marks. I studied a lot for my English dictation. So my dad gave me a break to let me play on the scooter. I felt happy because I had not ridden my scooter for a long time. After I rode the scooter, I felt hungry and tired. So my grandmother brought me a delicious cheesecake. It was very delicious, I think she made it herself. At night we ate dinner together. After dinner, grandmother felt tired and went home. I felt very happy. So I hope I have a similar weekend every week.

A Busy Day

On the 21st September, I went to coding class in Shek Mun. This time it was not Minecraft modding. Instead we were learning how to use App Inventor software.

I made a mini game using funny online emojis. The game was called Hide and Seek. To play, you have to tap on the emoji as fast as you can without hitting the white screen. There is also a health bar that will go down if you miss. After coding class, I went to lunch. We ate Shanghainese food. After we finished our lunch we went back home to wait for my cousin to come. When she arrived, we played PUBG together.

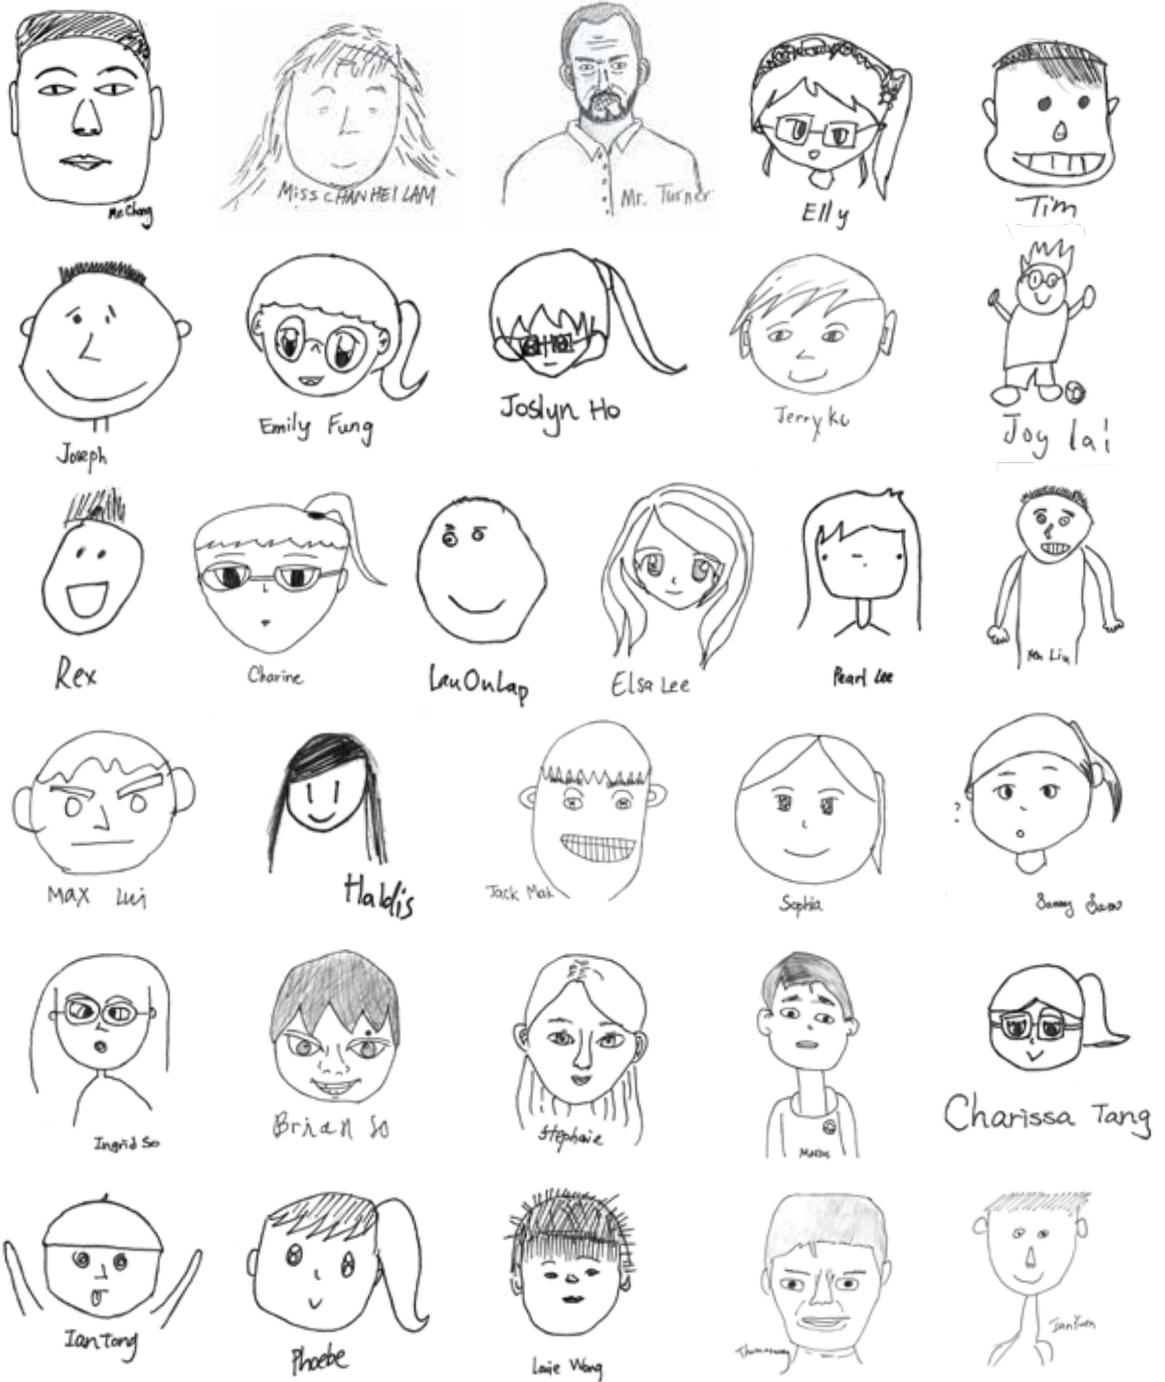

We played PUBG for a while. When it was about 6, we went to have dinner at a fast food shop called 'Super Fast Food'. We went to the park after we ate. We played hide and seek and laser tag, it was fun! We stayed at the park for one and a half hours. Then we went home and played Minecraft on our Xbox One. At last it was 10pm and my cousin had to leave. We had a delightful day.

PRIMARY SIX SELF PORTRAITS

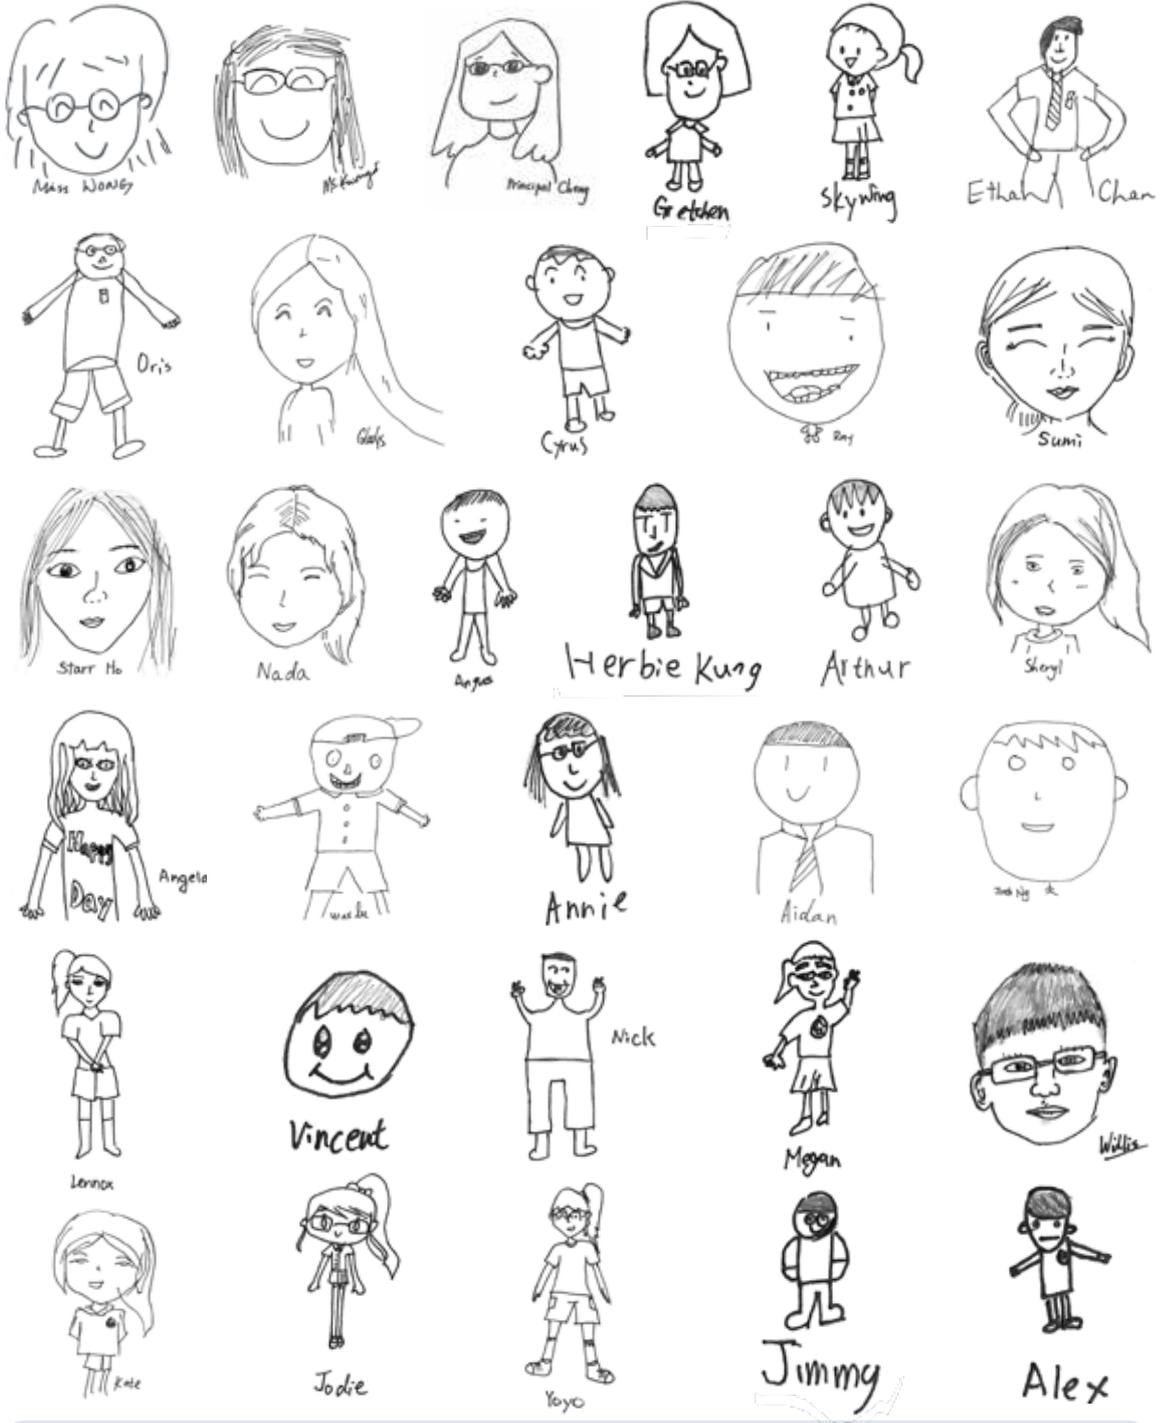

"We are elite! The class to beat!"

PRIMARY SIX SELF PORTRAITS

“6B - Polite, bright and liked!”

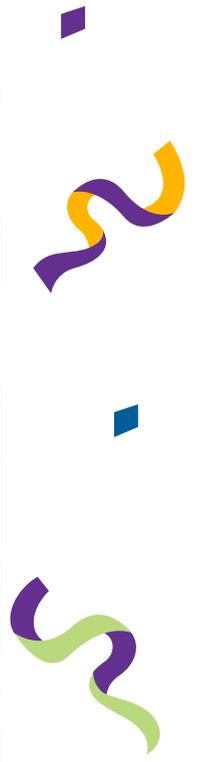

Each and every year, the school opens its doors to the public in order to showcase what the students learn on a daily basis as well as some of their achievements along the way. Each subject has its own vast array of work and displays to present to potential future students and their parents what makes this school so amazing and why the kids love it so much. So next time, why not come along, speak to some current students, even some of the teachers, and enjoy yourself for a day!

OPEN DAY

OPEN DAY

Are you grateful for the things that you have? Maybe you want to make somebody feel good? There's only one thing to do, then; give thanks! Thanksgiving is a festival celebrated by many people around the world where they give thanks to their friends and family. Here at LUAAPS, the students are also given a chance to give thanks to everyone they know!

THANKSGIVING

Ho ho ho! Merry Christmas! Christmas is a wonderful time of year and that's no different here at LUAAPS. Each class has a class party arranged by their class teachers where fun is to be had and prizes to be won! Let's end the year in style!

CHRISTMAS PARTY

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Since everybody here loves English so much, we decided to dedicate a week to it! The theme for the first English week this year was "Save the Earth". Each level had a different project designed for them in order to teach students what is happening to our beloved Earth and what we can do to help it. By the end of the week, students were able to produce a piece of work that enabled them to express their thoughts and ideas to help make the Earth a greener and healthier place.

CHARACTER DAY

All of us have our favourite cartoon or storybook character. What better way to celebrate this than to have our very own Character Day! For one day only, students and teachers dress up as their favourite storybook or cartoon character. They play games, have competitions and share about their characters with fellow classmates. There were some creative, funny and outrageous outfits from both students and teachers. Which characters can you spot?

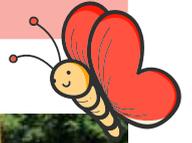

CHARACTER DAY

The school trips this year were slightly delayed, but that didn't matter for LUAAPS. At this school, we're very aware of the importance of some "down time" and understand that sometimes kids just need to be kids! This gives the students an excellent opportunity to experience maybe some new and different things such as doing their own barbeque, trying some new sports, or exploring new and exciting parts of Hong Kong never before seen! Have you visited some of these places before?

It's been a great 6 years at LUAAPS for our current P6 students. Together, we've had some memorable times! We hope they have enjoyed their stay with us and that they go on to achieve great things in the future. Good luck P6!
